

Hitler Knows
Doom Sealed;
"Master Race"
To Be Erased

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst
There is significant relationship, it seems to me, between the unexplained publication of Hitler's nine-day-old scare-talk to 2,000 young Nazi officers and the current rumors in London that Messrs. Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin are about to issue a world-rocking declaration which may involve a demand for Germany's surrender.

The Fuehrer's address bears the earmarks of being an attempt to whip his followers into line with the tale that they are doomed if they capitulate to the Allies. His talk was made just before the Royal Air Force began its all-out destruction of Berlin, and Propaganda Minister Joe Goebbels probably thought the terrors of the bombardment would lend point to his master's highly cynical mood. Also, Berlin insists that the Big Three are already meeting in Cairo.

One point Hitler made was that "the nation which loses this war will cease to exist."
That certainly is true, and it has an ominous sound, especially when the bare fact is stated without explanation—a shrewd ruse which Hitler appears to have employed. The Third Reich is due to disappear. The German nation politic will be wiped out—for a fresh start.

That's far from being as harsh as it looks at first glance, however. What it really means is that Hitler's own goose is cooked and that his regime is to be destroyed. The Allies have no intention of hamstringing the German race. The German people will be permitted to create a new government and to work out their own destiny—provided they keep to the straight and narrow path and avoid further entanglements with Nazism and Prussian militarism.

HITLER CHRIST
Hitler himself has had no intention of according conquered nations any such privileges. The voice of Nazism long ago announced in no uncertain terms that the vanquished peoples were to be made to serve the master race. Their territories were to be absorbed by the Reich.

One of the most remarkable passages in the master gangster's address was this: "As so often in the past, so today providence will bestow no gifts on our nation in its struggle for freedom and its future."

Well, that's a hot one, especially coming from an anti-Christ. The Nazi chief certainly can't have any kick coming at getting no divine help, and to give him credit he apparently didn't complain. He not only has broken the laws of God but has disavowed providence, and literally has set himself up as a messiah for the German people to worship. That sounds fantastic, but it's a fact.

MATES DESERTED
Under those circumstances you wouldn't think Herr Hitler could expect much help from heaven. Still, that's a question this column approaches with great diffidence. I can only fall back on boyhood teaching of the Scotch porridge type, which was that right would win in the long run. That's the reason the Fuehrer is losing this war, and it's the reason even his Allies won't stick with him—because he hasn't given them a righteous cause for which to fight. Brigandage is no inspiration for civilized peoples.

Finally Hitler tried to throw fear of Russia into his hearers. He declared that if the Allies won "then the barbarities of the steppes would sweep across the continent and destroy it as the base and source of human culture."

RUSSIAN POWER
The Nazi world-beater really has something there—provided we eliminate the bitter and unjustifiable talk of barbarities and destruction of culture, and consider the basic thought which he has in mind, namely that Russia is going to dominate the European continent after the war. This column has been saying that for months, and I could write you a book on the politico-economic-military aspects of the situation to prove it.

What Hitler recognizes—and it means his personal doom—is that a vast new power is being unleashed in Russia. The Soviet has made it clear, however, that it has no desire to see Germany destroyed, although the Nazi chief and his regime must go.

EUROPE NEEDS
NEW FRIENDS
TO STOP WARS,
HANSON AVERS

"Europe will never be at peace for any great length of time until some method is found for burying the old hates under new friendships," Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college told the local Rotary club in a talk on "The World Picture as I See It Today" Monday evening at the YWCA.

"Great social, industrial and economic revolutions accompany a world war," Doctor Hanson asserted. "The extent and meaning of these revolutions make the future difficult to evaluate. But from all appearances the United States, Great Britain, Russia and China will be the great powers of the next hundred years. The most providential thing that has occurred in recent years was the choice of the Russians, in that they followed Stalin, the builder; rather than Trotsky, the world revolutionist and destroyer, after Lenin's death," Doctor Hanson observed.

Future of Russia
"As a result Russia, behind the scenes, is becoming more and more democratic and our children will see the day when Russia will be one of the greatest of nations," the college president said.

"Germany and Japan are headed for destruction, and the East Prussian military clique and those inculcated with a Nazi fanaticism as well as the military class of Japan must be destroyed. The destruction of those military classes will be easier than the solution of Europe's hatreds. There are too many borders in Europe, and too many hatreds which are bred into the bone of the children of the various nations."

Thirty Rotarians and three guests attended the dinner session. President Frederick Tilberg presided. It was announced that a collection of trinkets such as costume jewelry, will be taken next Monday evening. The trinkets are part of a nationwide collection by Rotarians and will be used to trade with Pacific tribes which prefer the jewelry to money in order to "pay" the tribesmen for searching out lost American pilots and plane crews and returning them to their bases. A group of Harrisburg Rotarians will present a sketch next Monday, it was stated.

The justice has withheld his decision in the case until next Tuesday. Conviction would carry a $100 fine under state law.

The Red Cross Nurses' aide program and especially its operation in Adams county were outlined to a dozen members of the staff of the county chapter of the Red Cross at one of a series of staff meetings held Monday evening at the Hotel Gettysburg. MANY COUNTY
POSTS TO BE FILLED IN '44

The post of county sealer of weights and measures—now filled by Sheriff-elect John E. Millhimes—and several deputyships in the court house are the chief political plums to be distributed by incoming officials who will begin their terms in about a month.

Millhimes' post is one of those to be filled by the county commissioners who also will have to name a chief clerk, two assistant clerks, the staff at the county home, the county solicitor, the court house janitor and a physician for the county jail.

With the two Republican members of the board of commissioners—George P. Taylor and Arthur Boyd—scheduled to continue in office for another four years, few staff changes are expected in the departments of the county government under their jurisdiction.

Clarence C. Smith, their chief clerk, is expected to be retained in the position to which he was appointed nearly a year ago when C. Arthur Brame resigned and Robert Durbanow, steward at the county home, likely will be retained along with subordinates under each.

The most important post certain to be vacant is that of sealer of weights and measures to which Millhimes was appointed about six years ago when George W. Naugle resigned. Selection of the appointees may be made Monday, January 3, when the new board meets to organize.

A deputy sheriff will be named and Prothonotary-elect Arthur H. Shields and Howard W. Sheffer, who will become clerk of the courts, will have to select deputies. A Republican prothonotary foreshadows the dismissal of Miss Edna Elcholtz, deputy prothonotary and former Democratic vice chairman. Miss Elcholtz has served as deputy register and recorder or prothonotary in the court house for approximately 25 years.

The new board of county auditors will organize and select an attorney and later in joint session with the commissioners and county treasurer will organize the county's sinking fund board.

FEW REPORTS
OF DEER KILL
IN MOUNTAINS

Many hunters combed the South Mountains for deer on Monday, opening day of the deer season, but few reports of kills were received.

County Game Protector Leo Bushman found three young deer that had been killed illegally on the first day and left where they were dropped by hunters who feared to try to take illegal venison out of the mountains. No shooting accidents were reported in this county on the opening day.

Additional reports from successful hunters included that of Philip Topper, McKnightstown, who brought down a six-point buck weighing about 100 pounds, near Caledonia, Monday morning about 11 o'clock. Topper was hunting alone.

Youth Bags Buck

The Gettysburg Times received an unconfirmed report today that a 14-year-old boy shot a six-point buck near Caledonia park shortly after 8 o'clock Monday morning.

Reports of the first day's hunt indicated the kill was lower than usual, but accidents also were fewer. The season continues two weeks to be followed by an antlerless deer hunt in Lycoming, McKean, Potter, Cameron, Sullivan, Tioga and Warren counties.

The first fatality occurred in Warren county, where Reese Evans, 53, of Petroleum, Ohio, hunting with friends from Ohio, dropped dead Monday while guarding a buck he had just killed.

Last year there were 26 hunting fatalities, with the same number in 1941, and 43 in 1940.

Stayed With Kill

Troy Chambers, of near Petroleum, told Coroner Ed Lowrey Evans had decided to stay with his kill while other members of the party went to eat and when they returned he was dead. The coroner issued a certificate of death from a heart ailment.

Donald Vite, 20, of Rossiter, was shot accidentally in the leg by a companion on a hill above the Tionesta state fish hatchery in Forest county.

Most communities were unprepared for the sudden influx of so many hunters. In Coudersport many made house-to-house canvasses seeking quarters and many had to sleep in their cars. Hotels and restaurants there remained open over-night to furnish some shelter and help to the nimrods.

The kill in Potter county was placed at approximately 200 for the first day, quite a bit less than the same day last year.

Emporium reported more hunters arriving than facilities for handling them. L. G. Barnes, district forester, estimated about 200 deer were killed in Cameron county.

Couple Bags Two

Dr. Charles Brown and his wife of Oil City reported a double kill in the Tionesta dam region. He got a buck in the morning and Mrs. Brown an eight-pointer a few hours later.

First to bag a deer in McKean county apparently was Mrs. Frances Hall, of Bordell, who came out of the woods 10 minutes after the 8 a. m. opening time with an eight-pointer weighing 168 pounds. Don Rupert, 14, of Bradford, got a six-pointer at 9:30 a. m.

William Ashbaugh, of Oil City, got a deer but had his troubles. He dragged the 150-pound animal four miles near Klondike before discovering he was lost, then spent six hours getting it to his car, which was less than a 30-minute walk in the first place.

Harry Smeltz, of Pittsburgh, also was lost for several hours, causing occupants of the boarding house at Catherine Swamps in McKean county to call Game Warden W. J. Carpenter of Mt. Jewett for help. Smeltz however, appeared as dusk set in last night.

The heaviest kill was reported at Kinzua Valley and Mead Run, where a score or more deer were bagged.

BRITISH CRACK
WINTER DEFENSE
LINE OF BOICHE

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Nov. 30 (AP)—The British Eighth Army has cracked the main winter defense line of the Germans on the Adriatic end of the Italian front by driving four miles forward from the Sangro river, Allied headquarters announced today.

In 36 hours of continuous day and night fighting Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's forces captured portions of the vital Sangro ridge northwest of the river and routed the Nazis from the town of Mezzagrogna.

Simultaneously United States units of the Allied Fifth Army fought their way forward one mile through blistering enemy shellfire to occupy the town of Castelnuovo northwest of Montaquilla.

While clawing up the Sangro ridge, which rises 750 to 1,000 feet above the river valley, the British, New Zealand and Indian troops under Montgomery also widened their bridgehead to 12 miles.

Prisoners Are "Bomb Happy"

This frontal assault on the enemy's heavily fortified mountain positions was supported by deadly artillery and aerial bombardment, which in itself was almost sufficient to make the Germans' defense system in this section crumble.

The advancing British captured numerous prisoners from the German 65th Infantry Division who were described as "bomb happy" indicating they were shocked and demoralized from the heavy bombing and shelling.

After taking Mezzagrogna the Eighth Army hammered away in the direction of Romagnoli at the extreme south end of the ridge and north toward Fossacesia at the northeastern end of the ridge.

During this surge onto higher ground the little villages of Marcantonio, Basilo, Marcuccia, Casone, Cocco, Marcono and San Onofia were overrun.

RONALD ENOCH
SPENT 39 HOURS
IN LIFEBOAT

Ronald Enoch, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Roy Enoch, West Middle street, will have a story of adventure to relate when he returns home from his present tour of duty with the Merchant Marine.

His parents learned through Julius Swope, a gunner in the Merchant Marine and son of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Swope, who recently visited with his parents here, that Ronald spent 39 hours in a life boat after his ship was damaged by enemy action in the Mediterranean on Enoch's first voyage.

Swope and Enoch met in Algiers and Enoch related the experience which he could not mention in letters to his parents here. Enoch was uninjured and the boatload of survivors was picked up by Navy vessels about 150 miles from Algiers. The damaged ship did not sink but was towed to port and salvaged, Swope said.

WILD SALESMAN KILLS FOUR AND THEN ENDS LIFE

Philadelphia, Nov. 30 (AP)—William Harrison, a 58-year-old real estate salesman went berserk yesterday killing two partners in a firm which employed him and later slaying two downtown YMCA employees before he shot himself with a 32-caliber revolver.

Lieutenant George Spangler, city police ballistic expert, said today that microscopic tests "proved conclusively that the gun found in Harrison's hand by detectives shortly after the shooting occurred was the same gun that killed Harrison's employers and the YMCA employees." The coroner's office listed the cases as murder and suicide.

The coroner said inquests will be held next week in the deaths of Harrison, Samuel Clokey, 58, and David Fink, 47, partners in the real estate firm, and Madeline Chappell, 29, a maid, and Mrs. Nora Harley, 26, assistant secretary of the YMCA. Both women and Harrison were negroes.

Chronic Grouch

Police said Harrison was a graduate of Hampton Institute and dabbled in astrology. His friends, they said, regarded him as a "chronic grouch."

Detective Harry Neil said he learned that Harrison had quarreled with his employers, accusing them of withholding a $15 commission due him. Harrison had also waged a year-long feud with Miss Chappell after he once found torn linen on his bed at the YMCA, Neil said.

Harrison, police said, walked into the real estate office and poured five shots into Clokey and Fink and then went to the YMCA where he shouted for Miss Chappell. When she came to his room in answer to his calls he shot her, Detective Neil said.

Hearing the shots, Mrs. Harley ran to the room, Neil said, and Harrison shot her in the back. As detectives, already on his trail following the slaying of his two employers, entered his room Harrison shoved the gun in his mouth and pulled the trigger, Neil said.

The morning session was given officials, while a symposium in which over to reports of committees and interdenominational organizations shared was on the afternoon program.

Council movements up for review included the visitation evangelism, the Christian mission on world order, the united Christian education advance, and the annual week of prayer, Jan. 2 to 9, 1944.

RUSSIAN ARMIES ROLL AHEAD IN 6 AREAS TODAY

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Moscow, Nov. 30 (AP)—Russian armies rolled steadily westward on six sectors of the long front today—three in White Russia and three in the Ukraine—doggedly battering their way through forests, swamps and plains densely spotted with heavily fortified German defense works.

Greatest progress was reported in the Zhiblin sector northwest of captured Gomel, where Gen. Constantine Rokossovsky's troops were converging in a pincers movement on that rail hub and fortress guarding the Gomel escape gap.

A Russian communiqué said that Red Army spearheads had captured Streshin, 12 miles south of Zhiblin, and had seized 40 villages in a smashing drive from the west toward that strategic enemy base.

Other advances were recorded in the Berezina and Pripiet river valleys west of the Dnieper river, the bulletin said.

2,300 Nazis Slain
Eight hundred Germans were reported killed as the Russians surged forward in this area, stabbing closer to the enemy supply system while the Nazis steadily retreated toward the old Polish border.

More than 200 miles to the south in the great bend of the Dnieper, another Russian army launched a renewed drive on the west bank of the river between Kiev and Kremenchug. The charge drove the Germans back eight miles west of Cherkasy, 1,500 Nazis fell before the Red Army guns, the communiqué announced, and Soviet troops stormed into Russkaya-Polyana and four other towns, including Dubeyevka, near the rail junction of Smela.

Russian forces have pierced the German defense lines at Cherkasy to establish a bridgehead on the Dnieper river and have reduced to less than five miles in width the corridor linking the Nazi garrison within the city and German forces holding the area between Cherkasy and Kremenchug, a Reuters dispatch from Moscow to London said today.)

DO BRASS HATS STEAL GLAMOR GIRLS' TIME?

Hollywood, Nov. 30 (AP)—Cinema-ville, which loves a controversy so long as nobody settles it, is clacking happily today over this poignant war-time question:

Are they glamor-grabbers, these brass hats of the armed services?

Screen Actress Laraine Day, who raised the issue in a report to the Hollywood Victory committee, says she believes commissioned officers dominate the time and attention of most entertainers on Camp Tours.

Susanna and Irene Disagree
But Susanna Foster and Irene Manning, likewise actresses and Camp Tourers, contend they've found it otherwise.

"I played six camps in Texas," declared Miss Foster in an interview, "and my impression was that the officers practically knocked themselves out seeing that the enlisted men got all the best of it. During the entire tour I ate only twice with officers, and was in constant association with the buck privates and non-coms."

Her tour included Camps Hood, Swift and Bryan, and San Marcos and Randolph Air fields.

Miss Manning expressed a similar view.

"Sweet" Officers
"Practically all our time was devoted to enlisted men on our tours," she declared. "We ate with them, visited their barracks, inspected their pin-up girls, rode in jeeps and tanks with them, and saw no more of the officers than the enlisted men did."

Miss Day, in an interview following her report, made clear that her complaint was not directed against the officers who she said were "as sweet as can be." But, she declared, "I went on that tour (through southern states) to entertain enlisted men, and I didn't get much chance to do it."

Next time, she added, "I want to eat G.I. food, not thick steaks washed down with champagne in officers' clubs."

At any rate, Pvt. Footslogger has his pin-up paper dolly to call his own.

Xmas Seal Sale In Excess Of $500

The response of Adams counties to the annual Xmas seal sale appeal made last week by the Adams County Tuberculosis society may be the best in years if current progress is any indication. Miss Helen Spangler, executive secretary, said that receipts to date have topped the $500 mark, a figure more than double the amount on hand on the comparable date last year.

Last week the society mailed letters to more than 5,000 citizens. At least 100 seals were included in each envelope. Some letters carried two 100-stamp sheets of seals.

Two Coeds To Be In Cadet Comedy

Tryouts have been held by the aviation cadet group of the 55th Training Detachment at Gettysburg college for women's parts in the comedy, "The Nut Farm," to be presented in the college chapel in the early future. Approximately 25 coeds from the college have tried out for the two parts and those successful will be announced by the detachment prior to the beginning of rehearsals on the play.

Main parts include the mother, a married woman of 25 years of age who wants to be a movie actress, and the maid. The comedy will be directed by William Cassida, an aviation student, with Dr. Richard A. Arms, a member of the college faculty and professor of theater arts, acting as advisor for the presentation.

College Women's Chorus Organized

For the first time on the Gettysburg college campus, a Women's Chorus has been formed as an experimental group under the direction of Parker B. Wagnild, director of musical activities.

The group was organized in an attempt to give coeds interested in vocal music an opportunity to participate in a musical organization without the necessity of previous experience or training. All coeds have been invited to participate.

No tryouts were given for the group and about 50 voices now make up the membership. When trained the group will present several concert acts as adviser for the presentational functions on the campus.

Senators Ponder Slash In Tax Bill

Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—Senate Finance Committee members searched today for a means of tapping war-inflated wages without dipping further into the purses of families whose earnings haven't kept abreast of the cost of living.

Treasury officials—fighting for $10,500,000,000 in new taxes despite the House's action in cutting their demands to a fifth of that amount—pointed to rising national income figures as evidence that the country can pay the taxes.

But committee members were openly concerned that efforts to tax war wages would hit just as hard the "fixed income" families that live on pensions, annuities and other incomes that have not gone up because of the war.

After the first day's hearing, it appeared unlikely that the Senate will go much further—if any—than the house did in its $2,140,000,000 revenue bill, unless federal sales tax advocates can win adoption of their plan.

Safety Course For Industries Planned

Harrisburg, Nov. 30 (AP)—The national committee for the conservation of manpower in war industries will plan a 20-hour safety course for Pennsylvania industrial plants at meetings here Thursday, December 2.

Walter W. Matthews, of Philadelphia, assistant regional representative of the committee and chairman for eastern Pennsylvania, said the course, which will be designed for foremen and supervisors as a step in lowering the toll of industrial accidents, will be explained to 50 special agents and members of advisory committees.

Speakers in addition to Matthews will include Ross L. Leffler, McKeesport, chairman of the western Pennsylvania committee; W. T. Cameron, Washington, D. C., chief safety advisor of the division of labor standards, U. S. Department of Labor; Capt. John B. Scheerer, of Baltimore, chief of the safety section of U. S. Army's Third Service Command, and Thomas J. Quigley, director of the bureau of inspection, state Department of Labor and Industry.

Soldier Receives 1942 Xmas Package

Somerset, Pa., Nov. 30 (AP)—Albert Halbrook, a discharged Somerset soldier, has just received a 1942 Christmas package which Misses Edna and Martha Keck, his cousins, mailed to him almost a year ago.

It was badly battered and torn and so marked with stampings the final address barely was discernable. It went to nine station hospitals in Australia, then to Texas, and finally here. He recently was given a medical discharge.

SELLS STOLEN SHELLS
Wilmington, Del., Nov. 30 (AP)—John P. Houseman, 41, a Dover, Delaware, taxi driver, was held in $1,000 bail today on charges that he purchased and resold some of the 5,000 shotgun shells reported stolen from the Dover Army Air base. The FBI said two soldiers who were not identified have been taken into custody by authorities at the base in connection with the thefts.

IRISH REMAIN AS TOP TEAM DESPITE LOSS

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—Notre Dame remains as the top football team in the country, despite its 19 to 14, movie-like loss to Great Lakes, but its popularity took a drastic cut.

Eighty-six of 131 sports experts, voting in the final Associated Press poll of the season, marked the No. 1 on their ballots and their decisions kept Notre Dame on the throne for the ninth straight week.

The remaining 45 voters were definite in their opinion that the loss had robbed the Frank Leahy machine of much of its glamour. Some dropped the Irish as low as seventh, in contrast to the poll of three weeks ago when Notre Dame established a record by snaring every first-place ticket.

Mythical Champs
As it was, however, the Irish finished with 1,259 points to take over the mythical national championship in succession to the 1942 Ohio State eleven.

Non only did Notre Dame's loss cost it heavily in points but it lifted the Great Lakes aggregation from 21st to sixth place and made the Iowa Pre-Flight, Irish victim by a 14 to 13, count, a strong runnerup to the South Bend stalwarts.

The Seahawks grabbed 12 first-place votes and a total of 1,028 points—only 231 less than the total compiled by Notre Dame.

The first 10 is made up of six teams from the middlewest, two from the far west, one from the east and one from the south.

Thirty-two elevens received consideration, including all eight of the squads named to the four January 1 major bowl games.

The leading teams, determined on a basis of 10 points for each first-place ballot, nine for second, etc. (first-place votes in parentheses):

Top Ten
Notre Dame (86)	1,259
Iowa Pre-Flight (12)	1,028
Michigan (1)	762
Navy	717
Purdue (12)	707
Great Lakes (1)	642
Duke (7)	522
Del Monte Pre-Flight (9)	240
Northwestern	233

Second Ten

Washington (1)	115
Georgia Tech	108
Texas	80
Dartmouth	71
Bainbridge, Md., Naval	46
Colorado College (2)	37

KILREA LEADING HOCKEY LEAGUE

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 30 (AP)—Hershey's Wally Kilrea led the American Hockey league scoring again today with 22 points, three more than his teammate, Gaston Gauthier.

The Hershey star and leader had credit for one assist last week which enabled him to maintain a three-point lead over Gauthier, alone in second place. Gauthier scored a goal and set up two others.

Gauthier's sharer of 2nd place honors last week, Thomas Burlington of Cleveland, fell into third place for an 18 in the latest figures.

Robert Dill of Buffalo took over the penalty box honors from Paul Walker, a teammate. Dill spent 12 minutes in the box last week boosting his total to 29. Waldner has 23.

The leading scorers:

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—Most of the arguing in the minor league baseball meetings concerns the attempt to give Judge W. G. Bramham the heave-ho as head of the national association and a move to change the voting setup. . . . However, there's another amendment coming up in the next few days that may have far reaching effects if it is passed. . . . That concerns "drafting" territory, and since the war has boomed a lot of class "B" cities to "AA" size, there are some good territories waiting to be drafted. . . . The hitch is that prices ranging from $50,000 down, in addition to the value of the park, players, etc., being taken over, are set by the national agreement. What the big minors want is an arbitration board to decide what the territory is worth—and in the case of non-operating leagues, it probably wouldn't be very much.

OBSERVATION POST

Shag Shaughnessy, International league prey and No. 1 candidate for the national association presidency, makes this observation that seems to explain the entire fuss between the big minors and the little ones: "In baseball, fellows who have something don't want to give it up, even if they don't deserve it."

LOBBY PATROL

Connie Mack, nearly 81, shows more endurance than a lot of younger standees in the hotel lobby. Charlie Grimm can do a pretty fair job, too. . . . Grimm argues: "I don't care what else you say about Lou Novikoff; he still can hit if you let him alone." . . . While it's pretty well agreed that Herb Pennock is the man Bob Carpenter wants to boss the Phillies, Herb isn't due here until tomorrow. . . . There's a good chance that Charlotte and Winston-Salem, North Carolina, will come back into the Piedmont league today. . . . The American association, which proposed giving the double-A leagues 10 votes, may change its sliding scale before the amendment comes up. . . . The Pacific Coast league, which delayed its meeting a day because of Charley Graham's non-arrival from San Francisco, won't elect a new president until January.

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

Luke Sewell: "I don't know what good that Luke Appling will do in the Army—he'll always be shooting to right."

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Al Roche, Indianapolis Star: "In going down to defeat the Irish of Notre Dame proved more than ever that they are 'money players.' . . . After all, they didn't draw a copper for their beating at the hands of Great Lakes."

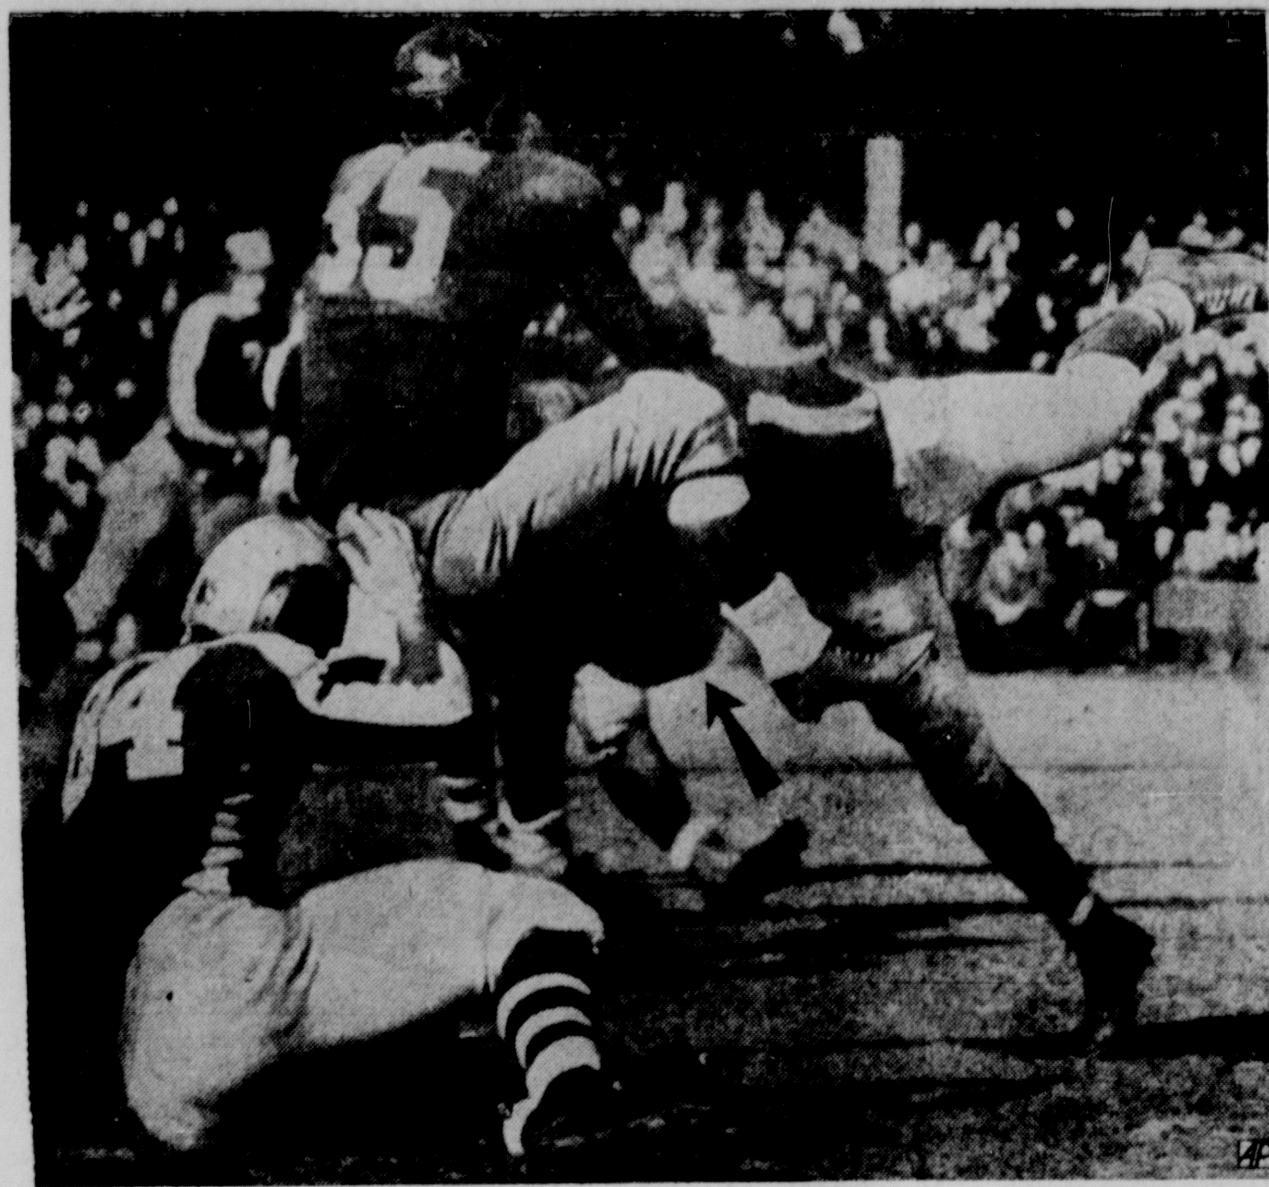

SERVICE DEPT.

Charlie Justice, the 18-year-old North Carolina high school boy who is starring in the backfield of the Bainbridge, Maryland, Naval Training Station football team, won't have any trouble getting a college education after the war. William and Mary already has a bid in for him. . . . When Sgt. Sid Gray of the Camp Davis, North Carolina, "AA Barrage" asked Lieut. Norm Standlee how he regarded the Chicago Bears, Norm answered: "Brother, all I know is that I'm darn happy I played with them and not against them." . . . Pfc. Irv Davis, former New York U. basketball, is an Air Corps weather consultant at Coffeyville, Kansas. . . . and no wonder, some of those courtmen stretch up into the clouds. . . . It isn't necessary to prove to soldiers in Iceland that the Yanks are real scrappers. . . . One of the better leather flingers there—and last year's Iceland bantam champ, is Private Eddie Yankee.

TOM HARMON IS REPORTED SAFE

U. S. 14th Air Force Headquarters, China, Nov. 29 (Delayed) (AP)—Lt. Tommy Harmon, former University of Michigan All-America football star who was shot down in combat with Japanese Zeros October 30, now is known to be safe, it was announced today.

The announcement did not give details of his escape. Harmon, a fighter pilot, was reported missing after a dive-bombing attack on Kiuksiang, Yangtze river port.

A terse message received at headquarters from his Lightning Fighter Squadron said, "Glad to report that Harmon okay and returning to base." Harmon was rescued by the Chinese.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 30 (AP)—The rejoicing family of Army Pilot Tom Harmon attended a mass of thanksgiving today in celebration of the former All-America football player's second deliverance this year from the dread list of men "missing in action."

Before dawn, his aged parents and a sister went to the same Catholic chapel on the University of Michigan campus where last April they had given prayerful thanks for Harmon's miraculous escape from a bomber crash in South American jungles that claimed the lives of five other crew members.

"Thank the Lord," Tom's father sputtered joyfully when he learned of the Air Force announcement that Tom was safe in China. "It's almost too good to believe, although Moms and I never lost faith for a moment."

Mrs. Harmon's eyes were tear-filled as she smiled radiantly and accepted the news with a reverent murmur, "Thank God—again."

REVOLT AGAINST MINOR LEAGUES' BASEBALL CZAR

By SID FEDER

New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—Billy the Kid Southworth popped with some pleasant words about his St. Louis Cardinals today as a shot in the arm to the major league side of the winter baseball meetings, just when it appeared the minors were going to have all the fun with a red-hot "revolution."

This minor-league rebellion was all wrapped up in an organized move against the re-election of William G. Bramham as a fourth-term boss of the nation's minor league organization. Frank J. Shaughnessy, president of the International league, already was up as a "rival candidate"—sponsored by his own league. And the stew that had been cooking about minor league government for weeks was in a boil that was on the way to blowing the lid off.

Southworth admits it isn't all beer and skittles now that Uncle Sam has put the finger on Pitcher Alpha Brazle, Outfielder Harry Walker, Catcher Walker Cooper and Second-Sacker Lou Klein in recent days, and may yet snatch one or two others, like Mort Cooper.

Lists Replacements

But the way he rattled off the replacements for these varsity men today as he looked over the situation was like a train-caller announcing the regular stops of the five-fifteen. "So," he shrugged, "we have a kid named George Dockins coming up from Columbus to take Brazle's place as our left-hand pitcher, and Del Wilks from Columbus and Blix Donnelly from Rochester and Albany from Sacramento to throw 'em."

"For catchers we have Tom Heath from Columbus behind Ken O'Dea, and to take Klein's place at second there's Emile Verban from Columbus. Now, understand me, we don't have Al Schoendienst from Rochester yet."

Schoendienst is only rated the best looking minor league second baseman-shortstop of the year, and the Cards can probably haul him up any time—but up to right now they don't have him.

SPORT SHORTS

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 30 (AP)—Joe Burns, of Trenton, who never played football before this season, was presented the George T. Cronin trophy at the annual Rutgers gown and town grid dinner last night. The award is given each year to the player who shows the greatest improvement during the season.

Bob Goldberger of Metuchen was chosen captain of the 1943 team.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 30 (AP)—Halfback Davis S. Marshall, pre-theological Junior from Tarentum, Pa., was presented the John Prentiss Poe cup last night for his outstanding performance with the Princeton football team this year. The cup is awarded annually to a Tiger player for sportsmanship, play and influence.

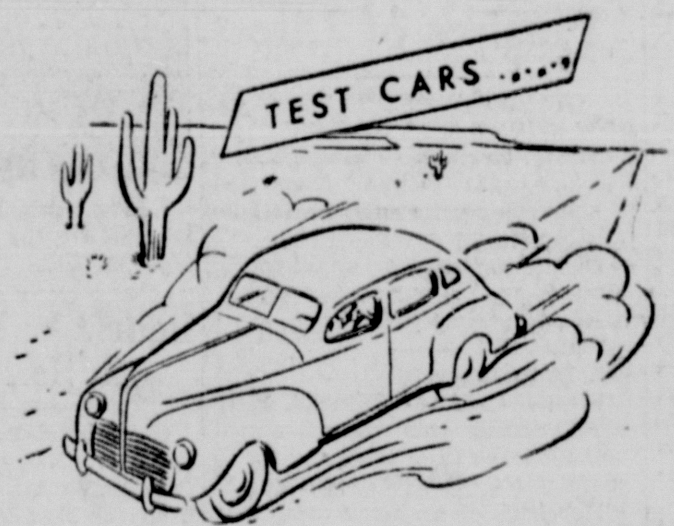

Marshall, who came to Princeton from Shadyside academy, Pittsburgh, Pa., was principal aerial artist, kicker, and ground-gainer for the 1943 Princeton squad.

The presentation was made at ceremonies in the Princeton Inn by Neilson Poe, 97, brother of the donor who was killed in action while serving with the black watch in World War I.

PROOF OF MILEAGE

for the new General
from American-Made* Rubber

As soon as they built the first new Generals, from American-Made rubber . . . they started testing them, of course, on special factory machines that reproduce many times over the hardest punishment anybody can give a tire.

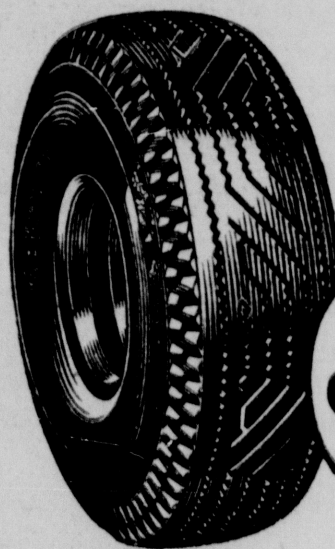

But they didn't stop there. They put them on test cars in the Mojave Desert on 24-hour runs —through hot sun and cold nights. And they put them on taxicabs—for the hardest kind of city driving.

So—General Tire ought to know what the new General will do. And, they tell us it delivers the same kind of mileage and safety Generals always have!

Shortage of Tires Continues

Some civilian tires are being made—but, military needs come first. It will be a long time before everybody can have today's new Top-Quality General. So—make your present tires last. Get every possible mile from them. And, for recapping, repairing or mileage advice—bring your tires to us—to Quality Tire Headquarters.

Just Folks

PRIDE

He wears upon his coat lapel
A tiny star, his pride to tell;
A little badge of gold and blue,
Which plainly brings his heart in view.
And when it's mentioned, this he'll say:
"It's for the boy on guard today!"

I've never stood a watch at sea.
My country's never needed me.
I've never hungered, thirsted, bled;
An easy life I've always led.
When bugles blew and war drums rolled,
Too young was I, and next too old.

When he was born, 'twixt first and this,
We hoped the curse of war he'd miss,
But Hitler struck! Now somewhere he
Is serving freedom's cause for me.
And on my name bestows the pride
Of service unto me denied.

Never I've waked to drum or horn,
Never my country's tunic worn.
Nowhere on any list appears
My name among her volunteers.
But now I wear this pin to say:
"I have a son on guard today!"

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

FOR WHICH MEN FIGHT—AND DIE

There is talk on all sides of the military crisis, the economical crisis, and their relation to each other; but little is being said about the spiritual crisis—the accumulating clouds of fear and anxiety over the state of men's minds when peace nears.

It would be a chaotic world indeed if man's hope for spiritual growth and maturity should be suddenly neglected.

With so much destroyed that had once been the joy and inspiration of the world, to gain leisure for growth and the enrichment of the soul is going to be a task that will test the courage of the strongest. To drive hate from the mind is going to take far greater force than all that which has been necessary to drive dictators and tyrants from power.

The struggle for freedom has always been a bitter one. If it weren't worth while it would have been given up long ago. The price demanded has always been great. Nothing worth the gaining is ever cheap. "And so they crucified him." But that crucifixion marked a new era in the growth of spiritual progress—in the freeing of men's hearts from pagan slavery.

The material progress of the world has been almost unbelievable. Now we view this progress in the process of destroying the very things we hoped it would save. Leisure for the growth of the spiritual in man lagged behind. Now we are engaged in a World War to preserve this right to all mankind. In so doing, in the words of the beloved Lincoln, "we shall nobly save or meanly lose the last, best hope of earth."

A young seraph, back from fighting in Asia, wrote to a buddy still at the front: "You'd find a lot of changes coming back to America now, but probably more important are the unchangeable little things you never thought about until you got over there. Like the water you can drink from the faucets."
Yes, and to think freely, to express freely, to hope and to strive, and "from the lap of earth to look up into the face of God." To go to the little church and hear the old songs again!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Silent Watch."

YANKS WEATHER

65 BELOW ZERO
IN REICH RAID

London, Nov. 30 (AP)—RAF Mosquito bombers returned to western Germany last night and blasted unspecified targets, the Air Ministry announced today, and intruders pounded Nazi airfields in France and Holland.

The missions, which were carried out without loss, followed a raid by U. S. Flying Fortresses yesterday, on the big German port of Bremen—the second in four days.

A communique also disclosed yesterday that American Marauder medium bombers and RAF Typhoons hammered Nazi airfields in Belgium while British Mosquitoes attacked an unspecified railway center in northwest Germany. RAF airmen also blasted enemy shipping off Brest.

Allied losses in all these operations were listed officially as 13 heavy bombers—Flying Fortresses—and 18 fighters, of which 16 were American. A total of 45 enemy aircraft were reported destroyed—35 during the assault on Bremen.

65 Below Zero

Flying Fortresses which made the 800-mile round trip to Bremen encountered temperatures of 65 degrees below zero in the stratosphere. It was the coldest weather the American bomber crews have endured in this theatre and returning airmen described the extreme icing conditions which they encountered as more of a hazard than the few German planes which challenged them.

The bomber crews were enthusiastic about the protection afforded by the swarms of American fighters which accompanied them.

"They must have had a fighter escort for every bomber out," declared Capt. Richard E. Robinson, of Crofton, Pa., a bomber pilot.

Of 35 enemy planes destroyed on the Bremen raid, 20 were credited officially to the heavily-gunned Fortresses and 15 to the American fighters.

Flashes of Life

(By The Associated Press)

HOW YOUNG DO YOU FEEL?

Ainsty, England — Judge Henry Hopkins, 82, retired from the bench because, he said, he felt he was too old.

Local magistrates unanimously elected as his successor W. H. Shaw, 85.

ALL IS FORGIVEN

Fresno, Calif. — John W. Marshall claims this record—absent without leave from the army for 60 years.

He's back at an army camp now—as a civilian employee at Pine-Dale. The 80-year-old man told officers he had escaped from guard duty in Missouri 60 years ago and had taken up civilian life in Memphis, Tenn.

Army legal minds have decided the statute of limitations has run out on the offense by now.

1943 MODEL

Santa Fe, N. M. — A Chama Valley bus broke down completely on the rough road to remote Canjilon.

So Joseph Burne, president of the bus line, asked the State Corporation Commission for authority to use a horse and buggy to carry passengers and mail.

Chairman Robert Valdez predicted the commission would say yes.

UNASKED NOTORIETY

Chicago — Two ambulances, two hearses and three fire companies rolled up to Mrs. Roy Olsen's house on different days last week.

A police car was last in the procession yesterday.

The vehicles came in answer to calls she did not place. Mrs. Olsen told the police. But she did call the police to report the parade of the emergency equipment.

SHORT OF QUOTA

Philadelphia, Nov. 30 (AP)—Failure to induce pre-World War fathers made it impossible for some local draft boards to fill their quotas in November draft officials have announced. One board said it was 42 per cent under its quota while another reported a two per cent shortage.

Charles E. Stahle and Harry F. Buehler attended the reception given on Thursday in Emmitsburg by Mrs. Charles Reinwald.

Miss Mary J. Slentz is spending some time with relatives in Washington, D. C.

Miss Laura Diehl spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. Y. Buttrif in Harrisburg.

Frank Chritzman has removed from Johnson City, Tennessee to Shippensburg. He and his wife and George Chritzman of Westminster, were the guests of their parents over Sunday.

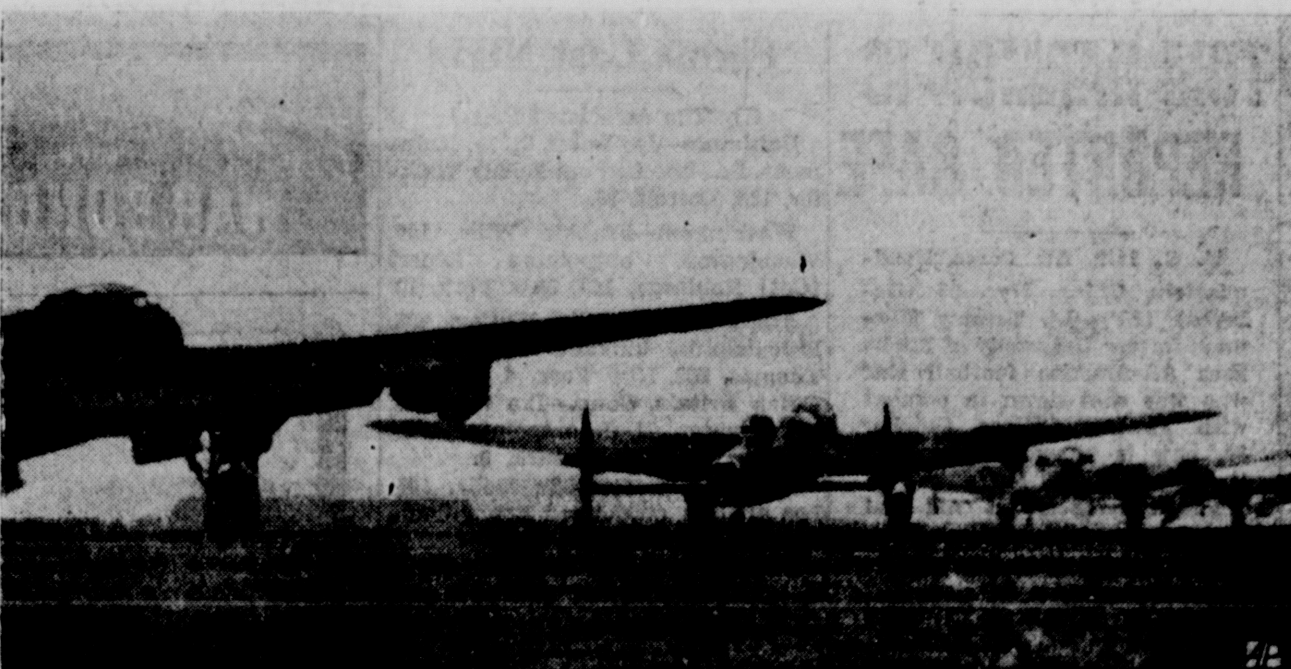

Give him a crisp WAR BOND for a CHRISTMAS present to be remembered. Keep on BACKING THE ATTACK.

Heavy Lancaster bombers taxi in line down an airfield runway in England at dusk as they prepare to take off for the Nov. 26 damaging raid on Berlin, Germany. The photo was received in New York by radio from London.

Bears' Valuables
In Sox Strong Box

Chicago, Nov. 30 (AP) — Vice President Harry Grabner of the Chicago White Sox may come home from the New York baseball meeting and find either (1) a gang of Chicago Bears football players camped in front of his office safe, or (2) the safe ripped open and no Bears in sight.

Grabner obligingly locked up all the Bears players' cash and valuables in the White Sox strong box before Sunday's Bear-Cardinal game and then departed for New York—which the Bears discovered after the football contest was over.

Nagurski Still
Ace Ball Carrier

Chicago, Nov. 30 (AP)—Five years away from a ball carrying job apparently hasn't slowed Bronko Nagurski, the Chicago Bears tackle-fallback.

He retired after the 1937 season but returned this year to help out the Bears in the line. Sunday, however, he was at fallback against the Chicago Cardinals and gained 84 yards in 15 attempts, an average of 5.6 yards per try. His lifetime yards as a Bear increased to 4,031.

EXPECT GELDER TO CONTINUE AS HEAD OF BOARD

Harrisburg, Nov. 30 (AP)—Retention of Chairman Frederick T. Gelder on the Liquor Control board and filling of a third board membership vacant since 1941, appeared probable today to a high Administration source.

"Governor Martin has complete confidence in Gelder's sincerity and integrity—as does the public—and my belief is he will be retained," the state official explained yesterday in commenting on the expiration of Gelder's term without public word from the governor that he is planning any change.

The same source said the governor, in acting on the third $10,000 place on the board, will name "an aggressive member," reviving speculation as to whether Arthur Colegrove, Corry publisher, will be offered the post.

Colegrove, Secretary of Property and Supplies in former Governor George H. Earle's cabinet, was mentioned by name by the Governor recently at a press conference in connection with a discussion of minority representation on boards and commissions.

More Bouquets Than Brickbats

Gelder, 69-year-old teetotaler and Forest City newspaper publisher, was named to the board in 1940 after 25 years in the state legislature. A year later he was elected head of the $150,000 monopoly when Chairman William H. Rial died. W. Seagrath Stuart, of Carlisle, named last summer to succeed W. Worrell Wagner, is the other member with Gelder. Rial's place never being filled.

An enlarged board would have the job of deciding on and putting into effect permanent whisky rationing, now on an experimental basis until December 31. At present, customers are permitted to buy a fifth and a pint of whisky for the six-week period.

"We are getting more bouquets than brickbats on rationing," declared Gelder, who reported it seems to be going over well. "If it proves satisfactory, as it is now, it will be continued."

KIDS ARE HAPPY

Philadelphia, Nov. 30 (AP)—Luck favored Santa Claus today. Just as the first workmen were reporting at a toy factory, a fire broke out in a pile of shavings. The workmen summoned firemen, who extinguished the blaze and saved thousands of toys from damage.

DRAFT BOARDS
TO HELP FIND
JOBS FOR VETS

Harrisburg, Nov. 30 (AP)—Pennsylvania Selective Service headquarters today promised all servicemen that local draft boards will assume part of the responsibility for finding jobs for veterans when peace comes.

Officials reported that re-employment committees have been appointed for all the state's 422 local draft boards and given the duty of "returning veterans to old jobs, seeing that they are properly serviced by the government agencies set up to help them and report to state headquarters on disposition of all such cases."

Honorably discharged servicemen and women, as well as members of the Merchant Marine, are instructed under the program to notify the reemployment committee of any board of their new status.

Cooperating Agencies

A State headquarters bulletin said "the committee are the veterans' personal representatives, agents and advisers," and added:

"Many men will return to old jobs and will not need help. Generally speaking, those needing rehabilitation will be referred to the veterans' administration since they are entitled to the services of that organization, including hospitalization, medical care, benefits and the like."

Re-employment committee men have been instructed to maintain personal contact with local representatives of such other cooperating agencies as the United States Employment Service, Veterans' employment service, vocation rehabilitation and training divisions of the Federal Security Agency, Red Cross, Civil Service Commission, Army Emergency Relief and the United States Armed Forces Institute.

SOLONS DIFFER
ON IMPORTANCE
OF PEACE TALK

By JACK BELL

Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—The current crop of peace rumors has whipped up speculation among members of congress about an early end to the war but several Senators in a position to know something about the progress of the fighting agreed today it will be surprising if the Germans are beaten before next summer or even later.

As one exception, however, Senator Austin (R-Vt.), ranking minority member of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, told this reporter that, without any knowledge of the events, he is inclined to lend some credence to reports that the Germans already may have broached peace terms to the Allies. "I believe the war will end suddenly," Austin said, "because I think the minute the German people become convinced they are beaten they will offer peace terms that might be acceptable."

Victory Next Summer

Similarly, Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) of the Military Committee said he did not see how the Nazis are going to stand up much longer under aerial bombardment.

But Senator Lodge (R-Mass.), who saw action in Africa as an Army Major and who subsequently visited Allied battlefronts on a senatorial tour, saw little likelihood that the war against the Germans could be won before midsummer at the earliest.

Foresees Long War

Chairman Truman (D-Mo) of the Senate War Investigating committee predicted it will take a year to crush Germany and that the clean-up fighting against Japan will last another year after that.

Senator Wallgren (D-Wash.), of the Truman and Military Committees, advanced the theory that Allied bombings of Germany while destructive of property, might stiffen the Nazi determination to fight on.

To Chairman Overton (D-La) of the Senate Naval Appropriations subcommittee the end of the war looks as far away as 1945, with a lot of hard fighting in the interim. Senator Brooks (R-Ill.), an appropriations committee member, also foresaw a long war.

Orders $25,000
In War Bonds—
Gets $2,500,000

Pittsburgh, Nov. 30 (AP)—Mark Nolan, president of the Keystone Box Company, wanted to buy some war bonds but he hadn't planned on becoming a millionaire.

Nolan sent a check to purchase five $5,000 bonds. In return he received five $500,000 bonds.

Federal Reserve bank officials explained a clerk had accidentally dipped into the stack of $500,000 bonds instead of the $5,000 ones in filling Nolan's order.

The bank quickly rectified the error when Nolan returned the $2,500,000.

More than 3,000,000 books have been sent to U. S. soldiers overseas.

Ace Flier "Lost"

2 Months Is Safe

Reading, Pa., Nov. 30 (AP)—An ace of the famous U. S. "Flying Tiger" squadron, Maj. John Gilpin Bright, 24, was reported safe today, two months after being listed as missing in the North African area.

Maj. Bright was the first American flier to shoot down planes of all three Axis powers. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Stanley Bright said they received a telegram from Adj. Gen. James A. Ulio informing them their son returned to Allied Military control, Nov. 12. Maj. Bright is credited with shooting down eight Japanese planes, an Italian fighter and a German bomber.

SOLDIERS TO PLAY

Greenville, Pa., Nov. 30 (AP)—The Camp Reynolds soldier basketball team tonight meets the untied and inexperienced Geneva college quintet after having split four preliminary games by winning two and losing two. The soldiers lost Saturday, 46 to 29, to Westminster.

GERMANS SEEK TO STAVE OFF FULL DEFEAT

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—Talk of German peace overtures was viewed here today as indicating that Nazi leaders have launched a propaganda offensive to counter the expected big news from a conference of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin.

This meeting, which probably also involves discussions with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, may be current now; at least Washington and London, after days of tentative guessing, now take it for granted that it has not already been held it must be at hand.

Fretful Waiting

The agreements which may be announced by the Big Three of the European war must be of utmost concern to the Nazis because of their effect on the next crucial months of the conflict. During those months Germany, while devoid of all hope of victory, may still try for a peace short of unconditional surrender.

In the meantime, as some observers here see the situation, the Nazis can be expected to use all the wiles of their propaganda machine to stave off utter defeat and to create as much confusion as possible in Allied ranks. Secretary of State Hull put the peace talk in this category yesterday by saying it is intended to cause overconfidence in the Allied camp and thus impair the war effort.

Others, seeking an explanation of the timing of the latest wave of rumors from such neutral sources as Bern and Stockholm, linked them directly with the Allied parley.

They argued that if the Germans could get the Allied peoples to hoping seriously for peace rather than concentrating on complete victory they might expect to offset somewhat the results of the conference.

URGES FINANCES AS MEASURE OF POSTWAR PLANS

Harrisburg, Nov. 30 (AP)—The State Planning board, launching a statewide campaign approved by Governor Martin to stimulate municipal planning, today urged local communities to consider post-war public works programs they can afford.

"The very essence of wise planning is planning according to financial strength," declared Commerce Secretary Floyd Chalfant, board chairman, in a letter to municipal officials. "No community can afford to spend more than it receives. A careful and conservative appraisal of the finances of your municipality is of first importance."

He listed two types of planning communities should undertake as:

1. Planning for the economic future of the community and its citizens to insure opportunity for employment for everyone.

"Of Major Importance"

2. Planning for the physical development of the community so that it may be a better place in which to work and live.

"In some communities," Chalfant added, "community self-appraisal committees have been established to carry on these planning operations. In others, official planning commissions appointed by the municipal authorities are doing effective work. The form of organization is not important but it is of major importance that some effective means be found to accomplish these planning operations."

"If such action has not been taken in your community, you are urged to carefully consider the advisability of doing so."

Alleges Manpower Hoarding In Plants

Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—Representative Weiss (D-Pa.), who declared that many Pittsburgh war plants are engaged in "wholesale and indiscriminate hoarding of manpower," said he expects to ask Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director to make an investigation.

The congressman said yesterday he would make the request for an investigation today if he has his material concerning the situation sufficiently arranged.

If Selective Service "doesn't look into the matter, I'll introduce a resolution to have Congress conduct an investigation," the congressman told a reporter.

During a recent visit to Pittsburgh, Weiss said he was informed by workers that although some of them have so little to do that they have been earning "only $43 for a two-week pay period," they have been unable to seek jobs "where their services are really needed because the plants refuse to release them."

Life Giving Plasma For Wounded Marine

Put Ceiling On Vegetable Seeds

Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration Monday established price ceilings for the first time for 14 types of vegetable seeds covering about 300 domestic and imported varieties.

Seeds brought under control were priced at levels corresponding to those prevailing early this year when advance growing contracts were being negotiated. This means, OPA said, that in many cases the maximums will reflect prices lower than those being currently quoted.

The regulation, effective December 4, covers bean seeds, pea, corn, bush lima, beet, carrot, cauliflower, Swiss chard, cucumber, lettuce, mangel, onion, rutabaga and turnip.

Sales of small packets of seeds bought by the backyard grower are not covered.

Chapter 17

In the short space of a few weeks Pete was transferred to several departments, remaining but a week in each. As he moved from place to place drastic changes occurred after he left, in accordance with the recommendations in his detailed reports.

If there was any suspicion on the part of the workers, there was no indication of it although naturally a great deal of resentment and bad feeling resulted from those who had been demoted.

Pete had counted on this. It was one thing which he had overlooked and in a few cases the new supervisors were forced to discharge men for whom they had once worked. On the whole, however, the situation looked good and Pete did his utmost to make his reports full and his recommendations fair.

Word came through the grapevine that Kitty was dating Brackmyde nightly. Pete had seen her but seldom since the night in the cafeteria. He felt he was entirely out of the picture so far as she was concerned.

Late, one Saturday afternoon he had met a friend from Center Valley, on the street in Meadville. The friend had news of Mary Donnelly. It appeared that Mary was doing a little running around on her own with a certain Joe Wilson, the town rich boy.

After all, Pete thought, he could hardly blame her. They were not engaged, exactly, and he had only written her once, having been so busy nights making out his reports. Mary was pretty nice, after all.

He decided to go home that Sunday and see her. He had missed her more than he realized.

But only disillusionment awaited him in Center Valley. He had called on Mary and she had not seemed overly-enthusiastic to see him.

Conversation lagged pitifully, after the first few moments and almost before he realized it, he found himself on the road which led to the cliff at the edge of town, vaguely conscious of the indifferent "Goodbye," they had said to each other.

Slowly, he walked down the shady street toward the paved highway that would cross the river further on. Strange, but it seemed only yesterday that he had taken this same route which terminated in the cliff overlooking the river.

He remembered the feeling of depression he had had that day and wondered at the strange new feeling of power that surged through his veins, the feeling that had given him a new outlook and unflinching confidence in attempting to put over his new plan at the plant.

Again, his feet carried him in the direction of the river that he knew so thoroughly and loved so well. Here, he felt, he could free his mind of all the cares and problems that beset him. The riddle of Brackmyde, the pitiful eagerness of old man Mose to snatch at a bit of happiness, the motley life of Les Graham, the bull-headed arrogance of Ernest Kahl, the gross inefficiency of the plant organization which he was trying so hard to overcome with his "Personnel Psychology," and . . . Kitty.

He felt that he must for a time free his mind of all other questions and problems, so that he could think clearly about the one most important problem . . . Kitty.

He had reached the brink of the cliff. Looking down, he saw the blue-black depths of the pool directly below.

He sat down, at the cliff's edge. Yes, it was there; the long beach with the fringe of trees just beyond, across the river, just as it had been then, the day he had met Kitty. It would be there, just as inviting and refreshing, tomorrow and the day after and for many more days and years.

Suddenly, he looked behind him. No, she wasn't there. But he could visualize her slim form standing there, just as she had been that day in the shade of the little tree, with her green wrap, her drawing board and sheets of paper on the grass.

Again he could hear her laugh and say, "Perspective! That's what I was trying to get when you walked into the picture." What was it that she had said that had given him new hope and that had kindled the spark of confidence in him? Yes, he remembered.

"But it is what you want!" she had said. "Your father was killed by a faulty wing. Your brother was hurt through someone's carelessness. It is your duty to help make Melvin fighting ships the safest ships on earth!"

Kitty! What a girl! What a fool he had been. How could anyone be as blind as he had been? He had loved her from the very moment he had set eyes on her and he had been too dumb to realize it. It had taken the cliff, and the pool and the long beach to bring him to his senses.

Well, thank Heaven, it wasn't too late.

He rose quickly to his feet, took one last look at the swirling water of the river, turned and started back toward the highway, shoulders back, chin up.

What did he care for Brackmyde or a dozen Brackmydes? They meant but little now. He'd redouble his efforts to put his plan over in a big way, and when he had increased production in the plant he'd go to Kitty and ask her to marry him.

Refuse To License Man, 80, and Girl, 20

Carlisle, Pa., Nov. 30 (AP)—The Cumberland county marriage license bureau yesterday rejected the application of George B. Salisbury, 80, janitor, and Catherine E. Green, 20, both of Newville, for a license when the girl's mother refused her consent.

Mrs. Wyanena Wampler, deputy Cumberland County Treasurer, quoted the mother as saying "He's too old."

Plane Hits Wires; Motorists Periled

Seranton, Pa., Nov. 30 (AP)—Three motorists escaped possible electrocution in Spring township Sunday night when their car ran through a tangle of writhing sparking high tension wires knocked down on the highway by a low flying airplane.

Mary McCarthy, Elizabeth, New Jersey, was the driver of the car. She told motor police she was driving home when the plane swooped low and ripped through the line.

Service on Pennsylvania Power and Light company lines in the area was disrupted. Company officials said the occupants of the car probably owed their lives to the fact that the tires on the car prevented the current being grounded. Police said the plane was not identified.

News Clipping Of Brief Will Filed

Carlisle, Pa., Nov. 30 (AP)—The last testament of J. M. Heiser, admitted for probate yesterday by Register Lloyd A. Bender, was a newspaper story of the brief will of Chief Justice Edward Douglas White, U. S. Supreme Court, who died in 1921. Heiser had crossed out the name of Justice White's wife and wrote in Mrs. Heiser's. Below it, he wrote:

"To whom it may concern; my wishes are the same as Chief Justice White's. J. M. Heiser."

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, Nov. 30 (AP) — The scheduled NBC telecast (via its WNBC) of a Madison Square Garden event tonight will be put on without music, the network announced, "because of objections" by local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians. NBC said the objections were not specified.

The program, one of a weekly series directed primarily to receive placed in Army and Navy hospitals in the New York area, will be a radio view of the ice follies. With the music omitted, NBC said the only sound carried would be the announcer's remarks.

Two Killed In War Plant Blast

New York, Nov. 30 (AP) — Two persons, including a 28-year-old guard who rescued two men, were injured fatally and 30 or more swing shift workers were hurt early today in the explosion of a leaking hydrogen tank in a lower West Side war plant.

The plant guard, Robert Hiller of Brooklyn, on duty near a loading platform where the hydrogen was stored, died in Beekman hospital several hours after the blast. The second victim, Antonio Gangarello of Brooklyn, died in the same hospital.

More than 35,000 Navy women are on duty at shore stations from coast to coast in the U. S.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg—The Woman's club met in regular session at the fireman's hall last Friday evening, with Mrs. Harry Boyle, president, presiding. The body joined in the pledge of allegiance to the flag which was followed by the reading of the "American Creed." Mrs. George Eyster acted as secretary of the meeting in the absence of Mrs. A. L. Leary.

Mrs. Richard Zacharias, music chairman, conducted the chorus singing. Mrs. George Eyster, reading chairman, gave poem selections on Thanksgiving, and Mrs. Robert Topper gave a complete directors report in the absence of Miss Louise Sebald.

Officers for the ensuing year were nominated and elected. The nominating committee was composed of Mrs. Richard Zacharias, Mrs. Joseph Hoke, and Mrs. Oscar Stinson. The election of officers was by ballot and the successful candidates were Mrs. Harry Boyle, president; Mrs. Roy Maxell, vice president; Mrs. A. L. Leary, secretary; Mrs. Lewis Higbee, treasurer; Miss Louise Sebald, director. Mrs. George Eyster presided during the election of officers.

Robert C. Pampel, 21 West Main street, was ordered by his draft board in Baltimore to report this morning at 6:30 o'clock for final examination and induction into the Army.

Those who gave blood for the Army at Frederick on November 22 were Mrs. William Rowe, Mrs. Elmer Fuss, Mrs. George Thompson, Mrs. James Saylor, Mrs. Roy Bollinger, Mrs. Eleanor Humerick, Mrs. Charles Sharrer, Miss Alice Kelly, Harvey Miller, Charles Sharrer, Edward Ridenour, Clarence Hahn, Ralph Hahn, Frank Weant and Robert Fitey, Jr. It is understood the Red Cross donor group from Baltimore will be at St. Mary's college again during December.

Guy Nunemaker, town clerk, recently returned from Mt. Alto hospital, Washington, D. C. The town office will now be open for the collection of taxes for the year 1943.
